The Police and Rioters Have a Desperate Fight and Six People are Killed.

TERRIBLE WORK.

A Pitched Battle at Belfast Last Night.

BELFAST, June 10.—All work is closed and many residences are closely barricaded. Mobs are in every street prepared for further acts of violence. The Orangemen are greatly incensed at the constabulary for firing upon them, and threaten to sack their barracks. Detachments of soldiers and police from Dublin are being forwarded to Belfast to assist the authorities in restoring order.

At midnight a mob of Orangemen raided a public house kept by Miss O'Hear, and after sacking it, set it on fire. The police charged the rioters a dozen times with bayonets, but each time they were forced back by a volley of stones. The police were finally forced to take refuge in the barracks, where they fired upon the mob from the second story windows. The mob, however, held their ground twenty minutes longer, although the firing of the police was heavy and incessant. Scores of rioters were wounded, and it is known positively that six women and two men were killed. A great many wounded persons were carried away by friends, and whether their injuries are fatal is not known. Twenty of the rioters who received bullet wounds are lying in the infirmary.

A large number of Orangemen who took part in the riots were arrested today.

The Orangemen of Belfast last night wrecked nearly 100 houses, burning two of the number. The police killed nine persons, among them a widow with two children. Policemen to the number of 150 were forwarded from Dublin. Shop girls and women urged the Orangemen on and all were beastly drunk and indecent on the streets.

4:30 p. m.—Four of the rioters who were wounded by the police yesterday, died today, and four others are dying. The Orangemen are making large preparations and declaring that they will have revenge upon the police for firing into their ranks. The number of policemen on duty in Belfast this afternoon at 3 o'clock, was 1,300. A number of troops from Newry has arrived to assist in maintaining order.

THIS IS RIGHT.

No Sunday Shows in Chicago Hereafter.

CHICAGO, June 10.—At a meeting of theatrical managers last night the matter of Sunday night performances was discussed and a general conclusion was arrived at, that next season no first class theatre will throw its doors open to any entertainment Sunday evening.

Stricken With Apoplexy.

MILWAUKEE, June 10.—General C. S. Hamilton, ex-United States marshal was stricken with apoplexy while boarding a train for Chicago, and is in a critical condition.

Encouragement for the Y. M. C. A. [Indianapolis News.]

Mr. George S. Fisher, formerly of Anderson, this state, now state secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Kansas, writes: "I want to have at least one brick in every building in Indiana that is devoted to saving young men. I wish I could buy a whole front, but I have given myself dry the past year. However, let me heartily subscribe $25 to the Indianapolis building, and with it shall go my prayers that God may open the hearts of the people of your city so that they may arise and build."

MUCH HONOR.

Fort Wayne Druggists Lead in the State Society Deliberations.

At the session of the Indiana Pharmaceutical Association at Lafayette yesterday, George H. Loesch, of this city, was chosen third vice-president; Martin Detzer, F. G. Miller, W. R. Ranke and F. W. Myers, of this city, were elected to membership in the state society. In the afternoon the pharmacists went to Purdue university to meet with the graduating class there. The Lafayette Courier says: "These were followed by an able address to the class by August J. Detzer, president of the State Pharmaceutical Association, which was listened to throughout with the closest attention. President Smart then conferred the degrees and the Indianapolis Pharmaceutical Association presented a prize to the member of the Purdue class for the ablest paper read during the afternoon." Richmond was selected as the place for holding the next meeting.

A TRAMP THIEF.

Captain Diehl Bags the Wabash Trunk Robber.

Sheriff Walters, of Wabash, came here this afternoon and took charge of the tramp arrested by Chief Diehl with knives and revolvers in his clothes. The tramp confessed to robbing the trunk at the Wabash depot and was taken to Wabash. He says two other men were with him in the work and the catch of one of the rascals adds new laurels to Captain Diehl, who is modest about his work. The robbery is explained in this item published yesterday:

Daring thieves stole the sample trunk of P. W. Rudolph, a drummer for Hibbard, Bartlett, Spencer & Co., Chicago, containing, it is said, about five hundred dollars' worth of revolvers and pocket-knives, from the platform of the Wabash railway station at Wabash. The trunk with the sides staved in and contents missing, was found on the canal bank a half mile east. There is no clew to the crooks.

LEARNED COUNCIL.

The Catholic Priests in Semi-Annual Conference.

An important conference of Catholic clergymen was held at Library hall yesterday to talk over doctrinal matters. Some eighteen or twenty priests were present and all were active in the great deliberations.

Rt. Rev. Bishop presided, and there were present: Very Rev. Brammer, Dr. Heuser, Revs. Koenig, Oechtering, Wiedan, Young, Messman, Schmidt, Romet, Becks, Lang, Haas, Guetloff, Wilkins, Koerd, Vagnier, Werdin, O'Leary and others.

The immunity of the church, the original sin and the heresy of Avignon were discussed. Rev. Wiedan handled the question of "original sin" in a masterly style, in fact all the papers and remarks were scholarly and Bishop Dwenger took occasion to compliment the clergy for their zeal. This conference meets twice a year—June and December.

Fort Wayne People Abroad.

"J. B. Haller, of Fort Wayne, was in Andrews over Sunday with his parents. —Nels Monsier, of Fort Wayne, Sundayed with his Andrews friends here this week," says an Andrews correspondent.

Pleasant Lake correspondent: Sylvester Tons and wife, of Fort Wayne, visited Levi Weaver last week.

Albion Era: Miss Nannie Phillips, of Fort Wayne, has been visiting relatives in town for a few days.

Churubusco correspondent: Miss H. Wyatt, of Fort Wayne, is visiting friends in this place at present.

Orland correspondent: Mrs. Charles Aldrich and children, of Fort Wayne, are spending a few weeks with her parents.

Avilla correspondent: Mrs. Leed James, from Fort Wayne, is visiting friends in town.

Mt. Etna correspondent: James Bain, of Fort Wayne, visited his parents Sunday.

A number of farmers of the southern part of the state expect to commence cutting wheat by the last of the week. The wheat crop was never better in the vicinity of New Albany than this year. The oats, grass and barley are also unusually good. Potatoes promise an immense yield and corn is coming on most promisingly. Apples, pears, plums, quinces and grapes will also yield heavily.

NEW METHODIST BISHOPS

Elected to the Episcopacy of the M. E. Church, South.

At the recent general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, at Richmond, Va., four bishops were elected to the episcopacy. Though some opinion may be gained of their ability from the excellent portraits which we present herewith, still it is from their records in the past that we are likely to receive the safest indications of their power for future work.

JOSEPH L. KEY.

The senior among the new bishops is Bishop Key, of Georgia. He comes from a famous family of preachers. His grandfather and his father filed Methodist pulpits in Georgia, the latter having served for more than fifty years in the itinerancy. The newly elected bishop was born in 1829, was graduated at Emory college, Georgia, in 1848, and began his ministry in 1849. He has for thirty-seven years been actively engaged in the work of his church.

Bishop Hendrix was born at Fayette, Mo., May 17, 1847, where his father resided as treasurer of Central college, the Methodist institution of learning of which the Bishop has been president since 1877. He was graduated successively at Central college, at Wesleyan university and at Union Theological seminary in New York. In 1864 he became a member of the Missouri conference.

After seven years' service in the itinerant ministry he accompanied the late Bishop Marvin on a missionary tour around the world. On his return he was elected to the presidency of Central college. He has won distinction as a preacher, as a teacher, and as an author, his volume of travels "Around the World" having gone through several editions.

Bishop Duncan, like Bishop Hendrix, was born at a Methodist institution of learning, and was a teacher at a Methodist college at the time of his election. He was born at Randolph-Macon college, Virginia, in 1839, and was graduated at Wofford college, South Carolina, of whose faculty his father was a member. In 1859 he returned to Virginia, and was one of the most beloved preachers in the state, until 1875, when he was elected a member of the faculty of his alma mater. Since then he has resided in South Carolina. He was a member of the Ecumenical conference held several years ago in London. Bishop Duncan, himself a preacher of more than thirty years' experience, is brother-in-law of the late Rev. James A. Duncan, who was perhaps the most eloquent preacher in the southern church.

Bishop Galloway, a native of Mississippi, is in his 37th year. He was educated at the university of his native state, and from the time of his graduation till 1882 he was in the itinerant service of his church in Mississippi, where he soon became one of the most popular and powerful preachers in his conference. He remained at his post during the epidemic of yellow fever in 1879, and suffered a severe attack of the disease. Four years ago he was elected editor of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. He has for many years been an energetic and active advocate of prohibition.

BISHOP GALLOWAY.

The Boarding House Child.

A child has been beautifully defined as "God's problem waiting man's solution." How is this problem solved in our boarding houses? The answer may be found in Sing Sing and Mercer street.

I know of nothing more pitiful than the life of a boarding house child. The idea of growing up without having known a home; to find yourself a fully developed human being with no recollection of home—why, it is like going into the world without vitals. No remembrance of the fireside sanctuary where a little group came with their wounds, or their joys, their losses, or their treasures, and confided all to each other. No memory, no familiar landmarks, but instead a wild confusion of flaring gas, sour faces, blazing carpets, gigantic tea urns, with an all-pervading, sickly, stale smell of food, marked only here and there by baleful blots. Perhaps by the recollection of one sour face that Mrs. Pipp's, was who wanted her board paid in advance, or of the place where they had stale eggs, or of the other place where they were so cross, or of the other where there were holes in the table cloth and the casters were all tipsy and empty, or where they had not enough to eat, or where there was a drunken husband, or where the baby died. Oh! what retrospects!—Texas Siftings.

During a debate, yesterday, in the house of representatives, on civil service reform, Samuel J. Randall declared that the regulations enacted had cheated the representatives of the people out of rights which they should have stood up and defended in behalf of their constituents.

TYPOS!

The Printers Hard at Work.

All Strikes are to be Investigated and Arbitrated by an Executive Council.

The Labor News To-day is of Great Interest, Especial From Chicago.

LABOR NEWS.

The Doings To-day in the World of Toil.

PITTSBURGH, June 10.—The International Typographical Union discussed the question of reducing the working hours to nine hours a day and finally decided that all subordinate lodges vote on the matter between February and April 1, 1887.

It amends the laws so that all strikes shall be investigated and arbitrated by an executive council, composed of the president, chief organizer and vice-president or state deputy. It also recommends that membership of the strike fund shall be made compulsory.

The committee appointed to devise a plan whereby the munificent gift of Messrs. Childs and Drexel could be put to the best possible use, will recommend that the $10,000 remain at interest for five years, during which the birthdays of Messrs. Childs and Drexel shall be celebrated by every printer contributing to the fund the value of 1,000 ems. With the funds thus raised a hall is to be built in Philadelphia which shall be known as the "Home of the Craft."

SHOE ASSOCIATION.

LYNN, Mass., June 10.—The Shoe and Leather association last evening voted to appoint sub-committees to prepare new lists of wages in each department, covering all prices in making shoes. This is a surprise to the Knights of Labor. It shows a disposition on the part of the manufacturers to take control of affairs, without regard to previous relation.

BROTHERHOOD OF CARPENTERS AND JOINERS.

CHICAGO, June 10.—The Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners held a meeting last night to take action in regard to the impending strike, in the ten hour shops, which is expected to occur next Monday morning. There are sixty-five shops out of over 300, standing out for ten hours for a working day. Unless these shops conform to the time standard adopted by the rest of the trade, 1,600 men will lay down their tools next Monday. About 5,000 carpenters are working on the eight hours work, eight hours pay rule.

GLASS WORKERS.

At the request of Grand Master Workman Powderly, M. Kline, president of the window glass workers association, was permitted to address the advantage to be derived from amalgamation with the Knights of Labor.

NOTES.

H. D. Davis, local master workman, Knights of Labor, was convicted at Union, Mo., Wednesday, of obstructing the track during the railroad strike, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

The Yarmasters' Mutual Benevolent association assembled in annual convention Wednesday at St. Paul, President Campbell, of Derry, Pa., in the chair.

General Master Workman Powderly, Knights of Labor, offered his resignation at Cleveland, but the convention would not receive it. He was also proffered a large increase of salary, but declined to accept the advance.

Cleveland's Administration Enthusiastically Endorsed.

MONTGOMERY, June 10.—The democratic state convention of Alabama met yesterday. Chairman Tompkins of the executive committee called the meeting to order, and made eloquent references to President Cleveland, which were heartily applauded.

THE FIRES.

Big Losses are Heaped up Today.

BUFFALO, June 10.—A fire at Towanda at 2 o'clock this morning destroyed the Mozart theatre and saloon, carpenter shop, Eden's ice house and other small buildings. The losses estimated $30,000; insurance unknown. The body of an unknown man was found in the ruins.

UTICA, N. Y., June 10.—A fire broke out in the store of Sheehan & Co., wholesale and retail druggists, this morning. Loss, $70,000; insurance, $60,000. The adjoining buildings were damaged to the amount of $10,000; fully covered by insurance.

MINNEAPOLIS EXPOSITION BUILDING.

An Enterprise Which Illustrates the Public Spirit of Minnesotians. On the recent occasion of the laying of the corner stone of the building for a permanent exhibition at Minneapolis, President Northrup, of the State university, told of the inception, progress and aim of this enterprise in part as follows:

THE PERMANENT EXPOSITION BUILDING. Some idea of the magnitude of the proposed idea and correspondingly of the expenditure which it is to contain may be gained from the work already done. The height of the building are each 336 feet. The height of the building, from the ground line to the main cornice, is 80 feet, and to the top of the dome on the main entrance is 144 feet. The height to the top of the pavilion on the corner of Main street and First avenue is 128 feet. The smaller pavilions are each 112 feet high. The great tower on the corner of Main and Bank streets is 54½ feet square. The first balcony of this tower is 160 feet from the ground and large enough to accommodate 400 people. The upper balcony is about 200 feet from the ground. The tower extends still above this, and the mast which surmounts it will have at its summit an electric light which will be about 260 feet above the level of Main street. May it be a symbol of the exposit on itself, seen from afar and shedding its light all round in every direction. Within this building there are three floors, and there will be more than 7½ acres of floor space for the accommodation of exhibitors; and here will be gathered together and exhibited for the delight and amusement and education of the people, in the bright days of a Minnesota autumn—the products of the useful and the fine arts—all that brings comfort to the body, a delight to the mind, and as most people do not do so well as they might, because they do not know what other people have done.

Reunion of Old Friends.

One of the brightest lights of the Austin bar was standing on the corner of the avenue, surrounded by a group of admiring friends, when a man with a peculiar stride and close-cropped hair walked up to the lawyer, and, taking one of his hands in both of his, shook it as if he was going to wrench it from his body, saying: "It's ten years since I saw you, but I know you as soon as I laid eyes on you."

The lawyer was embarrassed, but the rough-looking stranger helped him out. "You did me a kindness once, Judge, and if I ever forget it may my right arm clove to the roof of my mouth. Don't you remember when you practiced law ten years ago, up in Dawson County? You did me a kindness I never shall forget."

The friends of the lawyer cast admiring glances at him, and one of them said that he, the lawyer, always had a good heart.

"Yes," continued the stranger, still holding on to the lawyer's hand, "I had shot a man in self-defense and the Sheriff was going to lock me up when you nobly volunteered to go my bond. And you didn't know me, either."

The lawyer said he thought he recollected the circumstance, while the admiring friends said: "Just like him. He is always going about doing good." "You offered to go on my bond, but the Sheriff said he would be d-d if any jack-legged shyster could shove a straw-bond off on him, and if you remember, judge, he refused to approve the bond, and I was locked up, but I was always grateful to you just the same. You tried to help me swindle justice according to law. I broke jail that night and crippled several people getting away, but, thanks to you, I got away."

"Where have you been since?" asked the lawyer, seeking to change the conversation.

"I am just out of the Kansas penitentiary. I would never have got in there if you had been about. A feller refused to drink with me and I had to shoot him. Let's step across and have something," and running his arm through that of his legal friend they marched across the street, the judge keeping the sidewalk swarmed opinions about what a bad eye that man had.—Texas Siftings.

AT LAST!

Gladstone Orders Parliament to Close

That He and His Opponents May Appeal Direct to the People of the Kingdom.

Blaine Nominates His Man for Governor of Maine and a Bolt Likely.

DISSOLVED.

Gladstone Notifies Parliament to Quit.

LONDON, June 10.—In the house of commons, this afternoon, Mr. Gladstone, who was loudly cheered on rising, said that in consequence of the rejection by the house of home rule he had advised her majesty to dissolve parliament without delay. Her majesty had graciously assented to this, and he would therefore ask the house to wind up the business at the quickest possible moment. The premier's statement was received with cheers.

BLAINE'S WAY.

He Grinds Out His Man for Governor of Maine by Machine Methods.

LEWISTON, Me., June 10.—The republican state convention assembled yesterday. The strong fight which was made by Blaine and his following to control the convention was the great theme of conversation. The attendance was very large, 1,400 delegates being present. It was evident from the first that Blaine and Manly had succeeded in fixing the convention so that they could put their slate through, and it was done with neatness and dispatch. The only contest was for governor, the candidates being Dr. A. C. Hamlin, of Bangor, and J. R. Bodwell, of Hallowell. The latter was Blaine's man and was nominated on the first ballot. The announcement of the result was hailed with applause by the Blaine faction, but the followers of Dr. Hamlin did not seem to take their defeat gracefully, and many openly stated that they should bolt.

SHE WAS TOO KIND.

One of Buffalo's would-be "maschers" several times met a young and good-looking girl, and determined to become acquainted with her. He tracked her to a prayer-meeting at a prominent church one evening. After the service, noticing that she was alone, he approached her, begged pardon for intruding, in the usual way, and walked beside her. She entered into conversation in a pleasant way, and the "mascher" began to think he had made a conquest. At length he asked her to go with him to a certain restaurant. She politely declined, but said he might go to her home. After a little he said: "Will I be liable to meet anyone there?"

"Oh, yes," answered the girl; "you will see my father and mother."

"But won't they object to my accompanying you?"

"No, sir," she replied. "You have done me no harm, and, though you have not treated me like a gentleman, father and mother do not know anything about it and they will treat you like one. I am sure they would be glad to see you, and they might, perhaps, offer a prayer in your behalf."

By this time it was pretty hot for the "mascher," and he hastily excused himself from proceeding in the direction of the sensible girl's home.—Buffalo Courier.

It was near midnight. A beautiful idler has been dozing for more than an hour. Suddenly she rises, stretches, yawns, and says firmly to herself, "Come now, no more laziness—go to bed."

A FAIR TRIAL IN TERRE HAUTE.

The nineteenth century is said to be the age of skepticism, and so perhaps it is as regards religion, but its practical spirit inclines it to look favorably on everything that promises immediate benefit and it is always ready to give everything that seems useful a fair trial. The West especially has ever been open and cordial to all new ideas, and this may partly explain why Athlophoros, the sovereign remedy for rheumatism and neuralgia, has secured such a strong footing in Terre Haute. A well-known citizen who has the most implicit faith in it is Mr. R. Forster, the furniture dealer at No. 320 Main street. Mr. Forster, when recently asked at his warehouse as to the benefit he had derived from Athlophoros, answered as follows:

"Yes, I have used Athlophoros with the very best satisfaction. I have had neuralgia for many years, and could not find any medicine that would give me relief until I commenced using Athlophoros, and I can tell you I had used about everything."

"How did you first get confidence enough in Athlophoros to try it?"

"Well, it was just in this way. I was suffering very much at the time from my neuralgia. One Saturday evening Mr. Mallette, a manufacturer of wire mattresses, who is in business in Chicago, and lives at Elgin, Ill., came down to spend Sunday with me. Finding me suffering as I was he said:

"Get some Athlophoros. It is good, my wife used it and was cured of her neuralgia by it."

"Without waiting for me to say much about it he went out and bought a bottle of the medicine. I took some that night and the next day I was free from pain as if I had never had neuralgia. I spent several hours in a walk that Sunday with Mr. Mallette, which the day before would have been misery for me. During the summer months I am never troubled with neuralgia, but if I should begin I would certainly use Athlophoros, for I am fully convinced of its merits."

"I have recommended Athlophoros to several persons and have yet to learn of an instance where it did not accomplish its mission. Among others I recommended it to Mrs. Richards, who lives in Casey, Ill. I saw her in the city a few days ago and asked her if she had used it. She said that she had taken two bottles. It was helping her, and she said that she was going to get some more."

Mrs. C. A. Armstrong, of No. 125 South Second street, is another resident of Terre Haute, Ind., whom Athlophoros has cured. "I used it for neuralgia," she says, "and it cured me. I had been troubled for about three years with what seemed at times neuralgia, and then again rheumatism. I was never free from pain. The very first dose of Athlophoros I took gave me relief, and after using only two bottles my soreness is all gone and I am feeling much stronger. My daughter was also cured of neuralgia by it."

"Yes, I can say Athlophoros did everything for me," is the daughter's statement. "I was so sick with neuralgia that I could not sit up and suffered the greatest pain. Mother sent me a half bottle of Athlophoros, the first few doses of which gave me relief. All I used was the half bottle and I have not had any neuralgia since."

If you cannot get Athlophoros of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed. ATHLOPHOROS CO., 112 Wall Street, New York

For Congress, 12th District,
HON. ROBERT LOWRY, of Allen.

COMMON COUNCIL.

Proceedings of the Local Legislature in Regular Session.

REPORT OF CITY ATTORNEY

1. I have carefully examined the official books of the Trustee Mero & Fire, Chas. Hilbrecht, Weighmaster Ryan, Market Master Ropa, Pound Master Muench and Assessor Schroeder, and find the same in all things regular and sufficient.

2. In reference to the bill of Auditor Griebel for record and certified copy thereof in the proceedings of the city to annex certain territory, I report that he should be allowed and paid $12.65.

3. I have at the request of the Fort Wayne Natural Gas, Oil and Mining company, fully examined an ordinance this night presented to the council for passage. I report that said ordinance is clearly legal in all its parts and fully protects the rights of the city and its inhabitants.

4. In reference to the claim of Worswick Manufacturing company, I ask for instructions. Either the city should pay the bill or return the property. I am afraid a suit may be instituted. If the matter was left with the fire committee and mayor with the power to act it would be safer for the city.

H. COLERICK, City Atty.

Sec. 1 and 3, concurred in.

Sec. 2, concurred in and clerk instructed to issue order.

Sec. 4, concurred in and referred to mayor, fire committee and city attorney with power to act.

REPORT OF CHIEF OF POLICE.

I respectfully report that the electric lights were found not burning 381 hours during the month of April, 1886.

H. M. DIEHL, Chief of Police.

REPORT OF CITY ENGINEER.

I will respectfully report that the contract for macadamizing Murray street was awarded to Wm. Moeller by your committee on streets. I, therefore, prepared a contract with the city of Fort Wayne and the said Wm. Moeller for the faithful performance of the work, and presented the contract to him for his signature, which he declined to sign, claiming that he had made a mistake in his bid and should not be held responsible for his mistake.

J. S. GOSHORN, City Civil Engineer.

REPORT OF CITY ASSESSOR.

I respectfully report that I will have the assessor's book complete on the 6th day of July, and will be ready to meet the board of equalization any time after that date.

CHAS. REESE, City Assessor.

REPORT OF POUND MASTER.

I respectfully report to your honorable body that I have collected from May 19 to May 31, 1886, fees amounting to $24, for which I hold the treasurer's receipt.

P. MUNCH, Pound Master.

REPORT OF STREET COMMISSIONER.

In the matter of the resolution of Councilman Michael, instructing me to notify the officers of the New Haven Gravel road company to change the culvert from the west end of Grant avenue and Maumee road to the east line of Grant avenue and Maumee road, I would respectfully report that the officers of said gravel road informed me that if the city would said culvert removed the city will have to do said work, as they intend after a little while to throw up all that part of the gravel road within the city limits. I would state further that in order to do the necessary repairs on Grant avenue it is very necessary to have said culvert removed to the opposite side of the street.

DENNIS O'BRIEN, Street Commissioner.

REPORT OF POUND MASTER.

Since you have appointed me to the position of city pound master, I have given it my whole attention and up to the present time have performed my duty faithfully and yet, with the trouble I have in the performance of my duty and the assistance I must necessarily have sometimes, I find that the salary I receive is too small, of which, if you will examine, you will no doubt be of my opinion. I find that in order to do my duty well I must be at work at a late hour in the night, and again be up at an early hour in the morning, so as to watch for stray cattle in the night time, and to do this I must take with me some assistance, but am unable to with the small pay I receive. I, therefore, ask you to take such action as in your judgment you shall deem proper.

PHILIP MUNCH, Pound Master.

REPORT OF COUNCILMEN OF THE SECOND WARD.

Your committee to whom was referred the 37th section of the report of the street committee pertaining to the improvement of Clinton street, from Berry street to the P. F. W. & C. R. R., would respectfully report that we find the majority of property owners along said Clinton street in favor of a first class macadamized road and also in favor of widening the sidewalks 3 feet on each side, but many of them are opposed to making the improvement this year, as they are not prepared to meet the cost entailed by said improvement. Many of said property owners along said street have lots running parallel with said street 150 feet deep, and to do some of them it will be a great hardship to meet the costs for said improvement without having been advised of the case sometime in advance.

We therefore would recommend that said improvement be postponed for a year or two, by that time the government building will also be completed or nearly so. Water and gas pipe connections should also be made where necessary before said improvement is made, so that the street may not be disturbed afterwards.

Objected.

Railroad surveyors occasionally report laughable incidents, showing the ignorance of people with regard to railroads in localities not yet reached by the steam-cars. A party was surveying on a farm in the Far West, when an old man came hurrying out of his rude house, and asked:

"What you doin' here?"

"Surveying," was the reply of one of the engineers.

"Surveying for what?"

"For a railroad."

"Where's it goin'?"

"Right through your barn, I guess," laughingly said the engineer.

"What!"

"I can take it right through your barn."

"Well, now, Mister, I calculate I've got somethin' to say 'bout that. I want you to understand that I've got somethin' else to do besides runnin' out to open and shut them doors ev'ry time a train wants to run through."

On another clearing, an old lady came hurrying out, in the most excited frame of mind.

"What you men doing on my ground?" she asked.

"Surveying for the new line of railroad, Madam."

"Is it coming here?"

"Yes, Ma'am. The topography of the locality is such that we shall probably be obliged to do this."

"Well, now, it just shan't do nothin' of the sort."

"You will be paid for all damages done."

"That don't make no difference. Your old ingine cars ain't comin' here."

"I fear they will have to."

"Well, now look here, I'll tell you right out an' out what I'll do. An' I'll do it as sure as them cars come inside this fence, an' you can tell the railroad so. I'll tie my clothes-line across the track ev'ry single night, an' smash your ingine all to pieces! I will, I vum I will!"

A BROOKLYN dentist, against whom a suit for damages in the sum of $50,000 was brought by a woman whose mouth got sore after using a set of teeth he had constructed for her, has settled the case with her by a payment of $300.

AMERICAN HANDWRITING.

Less Legible than the English, but Possessing More Individuality.

Complaint of the general decadence of things are frequently heard, although if the growlers were brought to the point they could not but admit that from every point of view it is a boon to live in an age like the present. Fancy making a fire with a flint on mornings like these, as people did before the invention of matches. The most inveterate praiser of times past must own that getting up and turning on the register for simplicity and comfort beats it hollow.

However, there being nothing else in particular to complain of, an old writing-master of New York bewails in the public prints the decline and fall of penmanship. He says that in his day, which was early and remote, it is to be presumed, people were proud of their handwriting, and everybody strove to excel in legibility and beauty. It was studied almost as one of the fine arts, and he points to specimens in fac-simile in old books and also to the many original documents available.

It is not fashionable now, according to this critic, to write a good hand, and many of the fair sex even go so far as to describe it as a vulgar accomplishment. There are some who have ceased to use the pen altogether, and who resort to the caligraph or Remington. In these machines this old-time master sees a device of the diabolical enemy of the human race.

The indictment is brought chiefly against American girls. The fair maidens of England continue to write "the delicate Italian hand" which was once in universal favor. The objection, however to English penmanship is that it is too uniform. By pursuing a system all learn to write alike, and the result is a total lack of individuality.

Those who have correspondence with English friends must have observed the close similarity in the specimens of chirographic skill brought to their notice. The penmanship may be said to have a national character. All the letters are formed upon the same system, and there is an almost total absence of distinct traits.

American handwriting is less legible, but possesses much more character. If it is really possible, as many have claimed, to tell much of personal identity from penmanship the right field in which to pursue the study is in this country. Hardly any two persons are found to write alike, even among members of the same family. In all there is found a variety and independence much more interesting than the monotonous legibility of English penmanship.—Baltimore News.

A MAN TRAVELED FROM SAN FRANCISCO TO Chicago recently on a first-class limited ticket which cost him only $4.50. The scalpers had bought it to speculate on, but had not succeeded in selling it, and the last day to travel on it had arrived and the last boat was almost ready to start. Just before the gang-plank was drawn up the man offered $4.50, the offer was accepted, and he rushed aboard.

SHE KNOCKED HIM OUT.

A New York girl took a seat on the sunny side of a Fourth Avenue car as it turned into the Bowery. She was a little bunch of loveliness, and her black eyes twinkled with a gleam that told of a merry soul. Though small she carried a great many pounds of sweetness to the square inch, and as she settled back in the seat with the tips of the daintiest little shoes just touching the floor and dove eagerly into a big blue-covered book, everybody looked at her because they could not help it. She smiled so sweetly at the conductor, whom she had kept unconsciously waiting for her fare, that the attractive Bowery pictures for once passed him by without notice. A large jewel on her left hand flashed prismatic rays as the pages of the book were quickly turned.

Presently a tall, well-dressed man, with an immense black mustache, got on the car and sat down by her side. He turned his eyes upon his neighbor with an admiring glance and never took them off. She did not know it until she raised her head quickly to see how far up the car had gone, when he smiled and bowed at her. She was buried in her book in a second and the carmen in her cheek took on a deeper tinge. He kept up the steady gaze. She felt it, but did not look up. Her face became sober, and she held on to the book with a tighter grip. He moved his head forward, backward, and sideways and coughed to attract her attention. She was annoyed but tried not to show it. Though she appeared to be intently reading, the pages were not turned. He grew bolder and she became more determined not to notice him. As the car passed Cooper Institute he lowered his face close to her with a disgusting leer. She saw him not, and he was quiet for a moment. Then he raised his hand to his chin and touched the little woman's shoulder with his elbow. She did not stir, but the blood seemed as if it would burst through her fair skin, and her eye-lids trembled. He repeated the last maneuver and leaning toward her said something in a whisper. The little fellow patted the floor for a second, then like a flash her left hand flew upward and the lustre of the bright gem on her finger was buried in the cheek of the man who had insulted her. Before he knew what was the matter the blow was repeated with greater force. The car had reached Fourteenth street, which was just where the "masher" wanted to go, and he slid out of the car as if the air were greased, with the laughter of the passengers ringing in his ears. She seemed startled and smiled prettily in a frightened sort of a way, as if she had done something she ought not to have done. Then she tried to read her book, but she kept watch of the streets and when the car got to Twenty-fourth street she got off, as modest and unassuming as ever.—N. Y. Sun.

After an Eruption.

A bold traveler who had the temerity to ascend Vesuvius just after slight eruptions, and while it was still in a state of ferment, thus describes its appearance:

"Not a speck of green, not a bird, not an insect; no life—only fields on fields of lava and scorice and ashes. The silence from time to time was broken, but it was only by the low mutterings and growlings of the mountain that always heralded an upheaval of lava and debris. Again we bent our steps upwards, going zigzag among scorice and lava, passing various little extinct craters, until we came to where the mountain was hot and where white sulphurous smoke was rising all about. Here another halt was called, and the guide went off to explore. He soon returned and bade us follow. We could not go higher at this point for smoke and falling stones, and so he struck across the mountain in the Naples direction. We soon saw where we were—at the fountain-head of two streams of burning lava. These we must cross before we could make a further ascent. The guide stepped very cautiously on the black, cooling crusts of lava, and we followed. We were surrounded at times by sulphurous smoke. Our feet felt blistered in our boots. The lava creaked and cracked, but we passed lightly on. A little dog had followed us from the hotel; its piteous cries attracted us. The poor creature was having its feet sorely burned, so we took it up and carried it. But now we were safely over, and could examine more closely the phenomena. We approached as near the stream of burning lava as its scorching heat permitted. We saw it issuing from what looked like huge black cast-iron cylinders. These were formed of the outer rim of lava that had gradually cooled somewhat and hardened. The burning mass moved constantly, but not equally. It seemed to pulse and throb in its flowing—to be jerked out of the cylinders. As it advanced down the mountain it grew in width and height, because always cooling and became less liquid, until it ended in the great piles we first saw. I think the worst and most dangerous part of the whole ascent had now to be made. This was an almost perpendicular cone of loose ashes. At every step we sank to the knees, so our progress was exceedingly slow. Right below us were the burning streams of lava, into which it seemed we were bound to slide. Above us was the crater, whose thunderings we could hear and whose tremblings at times we thought we felt. Breathless and exhausted, we frequently lay down among the ashes. But at last we gained the summit, and all our exertions were rewarded. Such a sight! The crater of Vesuvius! A perfect hell of sulphur, fire and smoke, cinders and ashes, and red-hot stones; its flooring of hardened lava was rent by seams and cracks and yawning chasms emitting stifling vapors, while in the midst of it all rose the last formed central cone of smoking debris, belching forth clouds of sulphurous vapor, and at intervals, with loud thunderings, and with an effort

Gen. Leonidas Folk.

Gen. Leonidas Folk, the fighting Bishop of Tennessee, sat on his horse high up the northern slopes of Pine Mountain, in Georgia, on June 14, 1864, when the eye of a Federal gunner was caught by the glitter of rider's equipment. The marksman poked the black muzzle of a Long Tom gun toward the target, sighted slightly below the blue sky-line, and sent screaming thither a shot that deprived the Confederacy of one of its most famous Generals. B. F. McCollum, the man who thus picked off Gen. Folk, says an exchange, died at La Porte, Ind., a few days ago.

H. C. F. Westrumb and his son-in-law, Mr. Braze, were arrested to-day for assault and battery on John McMahon. Justice France has the case on his docket and the baron may have to settle for the novelty of blockading a roadway on Mr. McMahon and then abusing him.

C. H. Folsom, of Lima, Ohio, is at the Aveline house. Mr. Folsom is related to Mrs. Grover Cleveland, and it may be gossip to know that Miss Laura Hess, of West Jefferson street, this city, was a school girl with Mrs. Cleveland at Buffalo. Miss Hess has the autograph of the first lady in the land.

Nellie Hines, regaled in the height of fashion, sauntered into Justice Harding's court this afternoon to reply to the charge of keeping an improper joint on the north side. George Peters, who filed an affidavit against the madame, is scarce; in fact it is hinted that he repents his act. Miss Hines glared at Steve Chase and insists on a jury trial, which she will have to-morrow.

J. A. Abbe, a roving artist, is taking Silhouette likenesses about town. He cuts the face figures on black paper and gets a good picture. He took Jake Kern and Johnny Maier this morning, and at a critical moment vexations flies pitched tents on the nasal appendages of the subjects and spoiled the cut. Tom Gorman fared even worse. His collar was raised for a back ground.

Supt. G. W. Stevens and family went east at noon, en route to Detroit.

O. L. Ballou has called a convention of his Lagrange county followers for next Saturday.

Joseph Mayhew has been appointed administrator of the estate of Sarah Mayhew.

Mike Breen, of the Wabash shops, has been taken to the Peru hospital. He is broken down in health.

Jake Honsbook sustained a severe injury while lifting heavy material in the Wabash shop this morning. He was taken home.

Hon. James R. Bobo, of Decatur, is in the city to-day shaking hands with his many friends. The judge is a candidate for congress in the 11th district and is being warmly supported.

A SLIGHT SURPRISE.

Doly Hubbard Weds a Dakota Belle in Quite a Romantic Way.

A correspondent at Winchester Dakota, territory, sends this interesting item to the Emmons county Record:

"Sunday evening we returned to Winchester, and were tenderly cared for at the Bumstead domicile. After a brief service at the school house, and lunch, Mrs. Bumstead and Mr. and Mrs. Mathews concocted a plot for the purpose of creating a surprise, and in just five minutes by the watch (fast time of course) had a bride and groom—Miss Alice I. Petrie, teacher of Winchester school No. 1, and Mr. J. S. Hubbard—on the floor, duly blushing in anticipation of listening to the words that should unite them 'for better or worse' all through life. It was done like a shot. Yeater had just paused in the midst of a joke to brush a fly from his chin, while Bumstead was taking a deep breath to be ready for the inevitable laugh that was soon to follow, and just as Mathews had initiated his third smile—having 'caught on' a few seconds earlier—the enterprising ladies completed their arrangements and the 'Have him? Have her?—Hitched!' was pronounced, and the children of Beaver Creek had a Mrs. Hubbard for their future teacher, instead of the gay Miss Petrie of the Friday before. It is needless to add that it was a complete surprise to all, and especially to the bride and bridegroom. The congratulations that followed were hearty and earnest, the presents were numerous and costly, and all were happy."

Mr. Hubbard is a Fort Wayne boy, a brother of Sid Hubbard, the Columbia street barber. Doly was formerly catcher in Al. Foote's base ball club and has hosts of friends here.

The Gas Company at Work.

Indianapolis News.

Two weeks ago the gas company commenced boring for natural gas, at the works on South Pennsylvania street.

So far they have succeeded in boring about 170 feet. The first of the work was easy, until a vein of blue clay twelve feet in thickness was found, followed by quicksand, which occupied three days in pumping out. Within the last few days lime rock has been encountered, and the superintendent reports it is impossible to say how long they will be in cutting through, as the work is slow.

Although the well is a venture, the company is hopeful of finding gas.

Each congressman is entitled to 6,000 paper packages of vegetable seeds, 500 of flower seeds, 300 of tobacco, fifty quarts of grass, thirty-two of cotton, twenty-eight of sugar beet and twenty each of corn and sorghum to distribute among his constituents. With an outfit like this almost any congressman ought to be able to secure a renomination. But he must have gumption enough to know where these seeds would do the most good.

Flows Like Water at Belfast.

The Police and Rioters Have a Desperate Fight and Six People are Killed.

The City is in a State of Siege and Troops are En Route to the Scene.

TERRIBLE WORK.

A Pitched Battle at Belfast Last Night.

BELFAST, June 10.—All work is closed and many residences are closely barricaded. Mobs are in every street prepared for further acts of violence. The Orangemen are greatly incensed at the constabulary for firing upon them, and threaten to sack their barracks. Detachments of soldiers and police from Dublin are being forwarded to Belfast to assist the authorities in restoring order.

At midnight a mob of Orangemen raided a public house kept by Miss O'Hear, and after sacking it, set it on fire. The police charged the rioters a dozen times with bayonets, but each time they were forced back by a volley of stones. The police were finally forced to take refuge in the barracks, where they fired upon the mob from the second story windows. The mob, however, held their ground twenty minutes longer, although the firing of the police was heavy and incessant. Scores of rioters were wounded, and it is known positively that six women and two men were killed. A great many wounded persons were carried away by friends, and whether their injuries are fatal is not known. Twenty of the rioters who received bullet wounds are lying in the infirmary.

A large number of Orangemen who took part in the riots were arrested today.

The Orangemen of Belfast last night wrecked nearly 100 houses, burning two of the number. The police killed nine persons, among them a widow with two children. Policemen to the number of 150 were forwarded from Dublin. Shop girls and women urged the Orangemen on and all were heavily drunk and indecent on the streets.

4:30 p. m.—Four of the rioters who were wounded by the police yesterday, died today, and four others are dying. The Orangemen are making large preparations and declaring that they will have revenge upon the police for firing into their ranks. The number of policemen on duty in Belfast this afternoon at 3 o'clock, was 1,800. A number of troops from Newry has arrived to assist in maintaining order.

THIS IS RIGHT.

No Sunday Shows in Chicago Hereafter.

CHICAGO, June 10.—At a meeting of theatrical managers last night the matter of Sunday night performances was discussed and a general conclusion was arrived at, that next season no first class theatre will throw its doors open to any entertainment Sunday evening.

MILWAUKEE, June 10.—General C. S. Hamilton, ex-United States marshal was stricken with apoplexy while boarding a train for Chicago, and is in a critical condition.

Encouragement for the Y. M. C. A. [Indianapolis News.]

Mr. George S. Fisher, formerly of Anderson, this state, now state secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Kansas, writes:

"I want to have at least one brick in every building in Indiana that is devoted to saving young men. I wish I could buy a whole front, but I have given myself dry the past year. However, let me heartily subscribe $25 to the Indianapolis building, and with it shall go my prayers that God may open the hearts of the people of your city so that they may arise and build."

MUCH HONOR.

Fort Wayne Druggists Lead in the State Society Deliberations.

At the session of the Indiana Pharmaceutical Association at Lafayette yesterday, George H. Loesch, of this city, was chosen third vice-president; Martin Detzer, F. G. Miller, W. E. Ranke and F. W. Myers, of this city, were elected to membership in the state society. In the afternoon the pharmacists went to Purdue university to meet with the graduating class there. The Lafayette Courier says: "These were followed by an able address to the class by August J. Detzer, president of the State Pharmaceutical Association, which was listened to throughout with the closest attention. President Smart then conferred the degrees and the Indianapolis Pharmaceutical Association presented a prize to the member of the Purdue class for the ablest paper read during the afternoon." Richmond was selected as the place for holding the next meeting.

A TRAMP THIEF.

Captain Diehl Bags the Wabash Trunk Robber.

Sheriff Walters, of Wabash, came here this afternoon and took charge of the tramp arrested by Chief Diehl with knives and revolvers in his clothes. The tramp confessed to robbing the trunk at the Wabash depot and was taken to Wabash. He says two other men were with him in the work and the catch of one of the rascals adds new laurels to Captain Diehl, who is modest about his work. The robbery is explained in this item published yesterday:

Daring thieves stole the sample trunk of P. W. Rudolph, a drummer for Hubbard, Bartlett, Spencer & Co., Chicago, containing, it is said, about five hundred dollars' worth of revolvers and pocket-knives, from the platform of the Wabash railway station at Wabash. The trunk with the sides staved in and contents missing, was found on the canal bank a half mile east. There is no clew to the crooks.

LEARNED COUNCIL.

The Catholic Priests in Semi-Annual Conference.

An important conference of Catholic clergymen was held at Liberty hall yesterday to talk over doctrinal matters. Some eighteen or twenty priests were present and all were active in the great deliberations.

Rt. Rev. Bishop presided, and there were present: Very Rev. Brummer, Dr. Heuser, Revs. Koenig, Oechtering, Wiedan, Young, Meermann, Schmidt, Romer, Becke, Lang, Haas, Gnieloff, Wilkins, Koerdt, Vagner, Werdin, O'Leary and others.

The immunity of the church, the original sin and the heresy of Avignon were discussed. Rev. Wiedan handled the question of "original sin" in a masterly style, in fact all the papers and remarks were scholarly and Bishop Dwenger took occasion to compliment the clergy for their zeal. This conference meets twice a year—June and December.

A number of farmers of the southern part of the state expect to commence cutting wheat by the last of the week. The wheat crop was never better in the vicinity of New Albany than this year. The oats, grass and barley are also unusually good. Potatoes promise an immense yield and corn is coming on most promisingly. Apples, pears, plums, quinces and grapes will also yield heavily.

NEW METHODIST BISHOPS

Elected to the Episcopacy of the M. E. Church, South.

At the recent general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, at Richmond, Va., four bishops were elected to the episcopacy.

JOSEPH I. KEY.

The senior among the new bishops is Bishop Key, of Georgia. He comes from a famous family of preachers. His grandfather and his father filled Methodist pulpits in Georgia, the latter having served for more than fifty years in the ministry. The newly elected bishop was born in 1829, was graduated at Emory college, Georgia, in 1848, and began his ministry in 1849. He has for thirty-seven years been actively engaged in the work of his church.

Bishop Hendrix was born at Fayette, Mo., May 17, 1847, where his father resided as treasurer of Central college, the Methodist institution of learning of which the Bishop has been president since 1877. He was graduated successfully at Central college, at Wesleyan university and at Union Theological seminary in New York. In 1861 he became a member of the Missouri conference. After seven years' service in the Missouri ministry he accompanied Bishop Marvin on a mission to the West, and on his return he was elected to the presidency of Central college. His husband distinction as a preacher, as a teacher, and as an author, his volume of travels "Around the World" having gone through several editions.

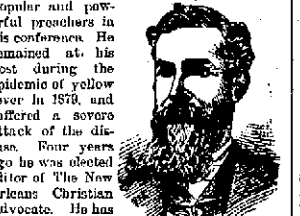

Bishop Duncan, like Bishop Hendrix, was born at a Methodist institution of learning, and was a teacher at a Methodist college at the time of his election. He was born at Randolph-Macon college, Virginia, in 1839, and was graduated at Wolford college, South Carolina, of whose faculty his father was a member. In 1859 he returned to Virginia, and was one of the most beloved preachers in the state, until 1874 when he was elected a member of the faculty of his alma mater. Since then he has resided in South Carolina. He was a member of the Ecumenical conference held several years ago in London. Bishop Duncan, himself a preacher of more than usual eloquence, is a brother of the late Rev. James A. Duncan, who was perhaps the most eloquent preacher in the southern church.

Bishop Galloway, a native of Mississippi, is in his 37th year. He was educated at the university of his native state, and from the time of his graduation in 1853 he was in the itinerant service of his church in Mississippi, where he soon became one of the most popular and powerful preachers in his conference. He remained at his post during the epidemic of yellow fever in 1878, and suffered a severe attack of the disease. Four years ago he was elected editor of The New Orleans Christian Advocate. He has for many years been an energetic and active advocate of prohibition.

BISHOP DUNCAN.

James A. Duncan, who was perhaps the most eloquent preacher in the southern church.

BISHOP GALLOWAY.

The Boarding House Child.

A child has been beautifully defined as "God's problem waiting man's solution." How is this problem solved in our boarding houses? The answer may be found in Sing Sing and Morab street.

I know of nothing more pitiful than the life of a boarding house child. The idea of growing up without having known a home; to find yourself a fully developed human being with no recollection of home—why, it is like going into the world without vitals. No remembrance of the friends who were with their wounds, or their joys, their losses, or their treasures, and confided all to each other. No memory, no familiar landmarks, but instead a wild confusion of flaring gas, sour fumes, blazing carpets, sickly stale smells of food, marked only here and there by baneful blasts. Perhaps by the recollection of one sour face that Mrs. Phipps, who was wanted her board paid in advance, or of the place where they had stale eggs, or of the other place where they were an excess, or of the other where there were holes in the table cloth and the cutlery were all tipsy and empty, or where they had not enough to eat, or where there was a drunken husband, or where the baby died. Oh! what retrospects!—Times Siftings.

During a debate, yesterday, in the house of representatives, on civil service reform, Samuel J. Randall declared that the regulations enacted had cheated the representatives of the people out of rights which they should have stood up and defended in behalf of their constituents.

TYPOS!

The Printers Hard at Work.

All Strikes are to be Investigated and Arbitrated by an Executive Council.

The Labor News To-day is of Great Interest, Especially From Chicago.

LABOR NEWS.

The Doings To-day in the World of Toil.

PITTSBURGH, June 10.—The International Typographical Union discussed the question of reducing the working hours to nine hours a day and finally decided that all subordinate lodges vote on the matter between February and April 1, 1887.

It amends the laws so that all strikes shall be investigated and arbitrated by an executive council, composed of the president, chief organizer and vice-president or state deputy. It also recommends that membership of the strike fund shall be made compulsory.

The committee appointed to devise a plan whereby the magnificent gift of Messrs. Childs and Drexel could be put to the best possible use, will recommend that the $10,000 remain at interest for five years, during which the birthdays of Messrs. Childs and Drexel shall be celebrated by every printer contributing to the fund the value of 1,000 ems. With the funds thus raised a hall is to be built in Philadelphia which shall be known as the "Home of the Craft."

SHOE ASSOCIATION.

LYNN, Mass., June 10.—The Shoe and Leather association last evening voted to appoint sub-committees to prepare new lists of wages in each department, covering all prices in making shoes. This is a surprise to the Knights of Labor. It shows a disposition on the part of the manufacturers to take control of affairs, without regard to previous relation.

BROTHERHOOD OF CARPENTERS AND JOINERS.

CHICAGO, June 10.—The Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners held a meeting last night to take action in regard to the impending strike, in the ten hour shops, which is expected to occur next Monday morning. There are sixty-five shops out of over 300, standing out for ten hours for a working day. Unless these shops conform to the time standard adopted by the rest of the trade, 1,600 men will lay down their tools next Monday. About 5,000 carpenters are working on the eight hours work, eight hours pay rule.

GLASS WORKERS.

At the request of Grand Master Workman Powderly, M. Klim, president of the window glass workers association, was permitted to address the advantage to be derived from amalgamation with the Knights of Labor.

NOTES.

H. D. Davis, local master workman, Knights of Labor, was convicted at Union, Mo., Wednesday, of obstructing the track during the railroad strike, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

The Yardmasters' Mutual Benevolent association assembled in annual convention Wednesday at St. Paul, President Campbell, of Derry, Pa., in the chair. General Master Workman Powderly, Knights of Labor, offered his resignation at Cleveland, but the convention would not receive it. He was also proffered a large increase of salary, but declined to accept the advance.

Cleveland's Administration Enthusiastically Endorsed.

MONTGOMERY, June 10.—The democratic state convention of Alabama met yesterday. Chairman Tompkins of the executive committee called the meeting to order, and made eloquent references to President Cleveland, which were heartily applauded.

THE FIRES.

Big Losses are Heaped up Today.

BUFFALO, June 10.—A fire at Towanda at 2 o'clock this morning destroyed the Mozart theatre and saloon, carpenter shop, Eden's ice house and other small buildings. The losses estimated $30,000; insurance unknown. The body of an unknown man was found in the ruins.

UTICA, N. Y., June 10.—A fire broke out in the store of Sheehan & Co., wholesale and retail druggists, this morning. Loss, $70,000; insurance, $80,000. The adjoining buildings were damaged to the amount of $10,000; fully covered by insurance.

MINNEAPOLIS EXPOSITION BUILDING.

An Enterprise Which Illustrates the Public Spirit of Minnesotians.

On the recent occasion of the laying of the corner stone of the building for a permanent exhibition at Minneapolis, President Northrop, of the State university, told of the inception, progress and aims of this enterprise in part as follows:

THE PERMANENT EXPOSITION BUILDING.

Some idea of the magnitude of the proposed building and correspondingly of the exposition which it is to contain may be gained from the work already done. The front of the building are each 338 feet. The height of the building, from the ground line to the main cornice, is 50 feet, and to the top of the dome on the main entrance is 144 feet. The height to the top of the pavilion on the corner of Main street and First avenue is 123 feet. The smaller pavilions are each 112 feet high. The great tower on the corner of Main and Bank streets is 144 feet high. The first balcony of this tower is 100 feet from the ground and large enough to accommodate 400 people. The upper balcony is about 200 feet from the ground. The tower extends still above this, and the most which surmounts it will have at its summit an electric light which will be about 250 feet above the level of Main street. May it be a symbol of the exposition on itself, seen from afar and shedding its light all round in every direction. Within this building there are three floors, and there will be more than 7½ acres of floor space for the accommodation of exhibits; and here will be gathered together and exhibited for the delight and amusement and education of the people in the bright days of a Minnesota autumn—the products of the useful and the fine arts—all that brings comfort to the body, a delight to the mind, and as most people do not do so well as they might, because they do not know what other people have done.

Reunion of Old Friends.

One of the brightest lights of the Austin bar was standing on the corner of the avenue, surrounded by a group of admiring friends, when a man with a peculiar stride and close-cropped hair walked up to the lawyer, and, taking one of his hands in both of his, shook it as if he was going to wrench it from his body, saying:

"It's ten years since I saw you, but I know you as soon as I laid eyes on you."

The lawyer was embarrassed, but the rough-looking stranger helped him out. "You did me a kindness once, Judge, and if I ever forget it may my right arm cleave to the roof of my mouth. Don't you remember when you practiced law ten years ago, up in Dawson County? You did me a kindness I never shall forget."

The friends of the lawyer cast admiring glances at him, and one of them said that he, the lawyer, always had a good heart.

"Yes," continued the stranger, still holding on to the lawyer's hand, "I had shot a man in self-defense and the Sheriff was going to lock me up when you nobly volunteered to go my bond. And you didn't know me, either."

The lawyer said he thought he recollected the circumstance, while the admiring friends said: "Just like him. He is always going about doing good."

"You offered to go on my bond, but the Sheriff said he would be d—d if any jack-legged shyster could shove a straw-hond off on him, and if you remember, Judge, he refused to approve the bond, and I was locked up, but I was always grateful to you just the same. You tried to help me swindle justice according to law. I broke jail that night and crippled several people getting away, but, thanks to you, I got away."

"Where have you been since?" asked the lawyer, seeking to change the conversation.

"I am just out of the Kansas penitentiary. I would never have got in there if you had been about. A fellow refused to drink with me and I had to shoot him. Let's stop across and have something," and running his arm through that of his legal friend they marched across the street, the judge keeping step like a soldier, while the friends on the sidewalk swapped opinions about what a bad eye that man had.—Times Siftings.

Gladstone Orders Parliament to Close

That He and His Opponents May Appeal Direct to the People of the Kingdom.

Blaine Nominates His Man for Governor of Maine and a Bolt Likely.

DISSOLVED.

Gladstone Notifies Parliament to Quit.

LONDON, June 10.—In the house of commons, this afternoon, Mr. Gladstone, who was loudly cheered on rising, said that in consequence of the rejection by the house of home rule he had advised her majesty to dissolve parliament without delay. Her majesty had graciously assented to this, and he would therefore ask the house to wind up the business at the quickest possible moment. The premier's statement was received with cheers.

BLAINE'S WAY.

He Grinds Out His Man for Governor of Maine by Machine Methods.

LEWISTON, Me., June 10.—The republican state convention assembled yesterday. The strong fight which was made by Blaine and his following to control the convention was the great theme of conversation. The attendance was very large, 1,400 delegates being present. It was evident from the first that Blaine and Manly had succeeded in fixing the convention so that they could put their slate through, and it was done with neatness and dispatch. The only contest was for governor, the candidates being Dr. A. C. Hamlin, of Bangor, and J. R. Bodwell, of Hallowell. The latter was Blaine's man and was nominated on the first ballot. The announcement of the result was hailed with applause by the Blaine faction, but the followers of Dr. Hamlin did not seem to take their defeat gracefully, and many openly stated that they should bolt.

"SHE WAS TOO KIND."

One of Buffalo's would-be "mashers" several times met a young and good-looking girl, and determined to become acquainted with her. He tracked her to a prayer-meeting at a prominent church one evening. After the service, noticing that she was alone, he approached her, begged pardon for intruding, in the usual way, and walked beside her. She entered into conversation in a pleasant way, and the "masher" began to think he had made a conquest. At length he asked her to go with him to a certain restaurant. She politely declined, but said he might go to her home. After a little he said: "Will I be liable to meet anyone there?"

"Oh, yes," answered the girl; "you will see my father and mother."

"But won't they object to my accompanying you?"

"No, sir," she replied. "You have done me no harm, and, though you have not treated me like a gentleman, father and mother do not know anything about it and they will treat you like one. I am sure they would be glad to see you, and they might, perhaps, offer a prayer in your behalf."

By this time it was pretty hot for the "masher," and he hastily excused himself from proceeding in the direction of the sensible girl's home.—Buffalo Courier.

It was near midnight. A beautiful idler has been dozing for more than an hour. Suddenly she rises, stretches, yawns, and says firmly to herself, "Come now, no more laziness—go to bed."

The nineteenth century is said to be the age of skepticism, and so perhaps it is as regards religion, but its practical spirit inclines it to look favorably on everything that promises immediate benefit and it is always ready to give everything that seems useful a fair trial. The West especially has been open and cordial to all new ideas, and this may partly explain why Athlophoros, the sovereign remedy for rheumatism and neuralgia, has secured such a strong footing in Terre Haute. A well-known citizen who has the most implicit faith in it is Mr. R. Forster, the furniture dealer at No. 320 Main street. Mr. Forster, when recently asked at his waterworks as to the benefit he had derived from Athlophoros, answered as follows:

"Yes, I have used Athlophoros with the very best satisfaction. I have had neuralgia for many years, and could not find any medicine that would give me relief until I commenced using Athlophoros, and I can tell you I had used about everything."

"How did you first get confidence enough in Athlophoros to try it?"

"Well, it was just in this way. I was suffering very much at the time from my neuralgia. One Saturday evening Mr. Mallette, a manufacturer of wire mattresses, who is in business in Chicago, and lives at Elgin, Ill., came down to spend Sunday with me. Finding me suffering as I was he said:

"Get some Athlophoros. It is good, my wife used it and was cured of her neuralgia by it."

"Without waiting for me to say much about it he went out and bought a bottle of the medicine. I took some that night and the next day I was as free from pain as if I had never had neuralgia. I spent several hours in a walk that Sunday with Mr. Mallette, which the day before would have been misery for me. During the summer months I am never troubled with neuralgia, but if I should be again I would certainly use Athlophoros, for I am fully convinced of its merits."

"I have recommended Athlophoros to several persons and have yet to learn of an instance where it did not accomplish its mission. Among others I recommended it to Mrs. Richards, who lives in Casey, Ill. I saw her in the city a few days ago and asked her if she had used it. She said that she had taken two bottles. It was helping her, and she said that she was going to get some more."

Mrs. C. A. Armstrong, of No. 127 South Second street, is another resident of Terre Haute, Ind., whom Athlophoros has cured. "I used it for neuralgia," she says, "and it cured me. I had been troubled for about three years with what seemed at times neuralgia, and then again rheumatism. I was never free from pain. The very first dose of Athlophoros I took gave me relief, and after using only two bottles my soreness is all gone and I am feeling much stronger. My daughter was also cured of neuralgia by it."

"Yes, I can say Athlophoros did everything for me," is the daughter's statement. "I was so sick with neuralgia that I could not sit up and suffered the greatest pain. Mother sent me a half bottle of Athlophoros, the first few doses of which gave me relief. All I used was the half bottle and I have not had any neuralgia since."

If you cannot get Athlophoros of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—our dollar price. We make no charge for the freight. We will send you a bottle of Athlophoros, but if he doesn't, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us, directed Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall Street, New York.

Proceedings of the Local Legislature in Regular Session.

REPORT OF CITY ATTORNEY

1. I have carefully examined the official bonds of Trustees McKee, Fire Chief Philbeck, Firemaster Ryan, Market Master Hops, Pound Master Muench and Assessor Schroeder, and find the same in all things regular and sufficient.

2. In reference to the bill of Auditor Grabel for record and certified copy thereof in the proceedings of the city to annex certain territory, I report that he should be allowed and paid $12.45.

3. In reply to the request of the Port Wayne Natural Gas, Oil and Mining company, carefully examined an ordinance they this night presented to the council for passage. I report that said ordinance is entirely legal in all things and fully protects the rights of the city and its inhabitants.

4. In reference to the claim of Worswick Manufacturing company, I ask for instructions. Either the city should pay the bill or return the property. I am afraid a suit may be instituted. If the matter was left with the fire committee and mayor with the power to act it would be safer for the city.

R. C. ROBERTS, City Atty.

Sec. 1 and 8, concurred in.

Sec. 4, concurred and referred to mayor, fire committee and city attorney with power to act.

REPORT OF CHIEF OF POLICE

I respectfully report that the electric lights were burned 361 hours during the month of April, 1886.

H. M. DIERL, Chief of Police.

REPORT OF CITY ENGINEER

I respectfully report that the contract for macadamizing streets was let to Wm. Muenchling by your committee on streets. I therefore prepared a contract with the city of Port Wayne and the said Wm. Muenchling for the faithful performance of the work, and presented the contract to him for his signature, which he declined to sign, claiming that he had made a mistake in his bid and should not be held responsible for his mistake.

J. S. GOSWORTHY, City Civil Engineer.

REPORT OF CITY ASSESSOR

I respectfully report that I will have the assessed value of the city completed on the 15th day of July, 1886, and will be ready to meet the board of equalization any time after that date.

CHAS. HESSER, City Assessor.

REPORT OF POUND MASTER

I respectfully report to your honorable body that I have collected from May 1st to May 31st, 1886, pound fees amounting to $24, for which I hold the treasurer's receipt.

T. MUECH, Pound Master.

REPORT OF STREET COMMISSIONER

In the matter of the petition of Councilman Michael, instructing me to notify the officers of the New Haven Gravel road company to change the culvert from the west line of Grant avenue and Maumee road to the east line of Grant avenue and Maumee road, I would respectfully report that the officers of said gravel road informed me that if the city would cut out the culvert on the west line of Grant avenue it would be necessary to repair the same in order to do the necessary repairs on Grant avenue it is very necessary to have said culvert removed to the opposite side of the street.

DENNIS O'BRIEN, Street Commissioner.

REPORT OF POUND MASTER

Since you have appointed me to the position of city pound master, I have given my whole attention and up to the present time have performed my duty faithfully and yet, with the trouble I have to perform the duties of my duty and the assistance I must necessarily have sometimes, I find that the salary I receive is too small, of which, if you will examine, you will find no doubt in my opinion. I had that in order to do my duty well I must be at work at a late hour in the night and again be up at an early hour in the morning, so as to watch for stray cattle in the night, and to do this I must take with me some assistance, but am unable to with the small pay I receive. I therefore ask you to take into consideration in your judgment you shall deem proper.

REPORT OF COUNCILMEN OF THE SECOND WARD.

Your committee to whom was referred the 37th section of the street committee's last report, recommending that the improvement of Clinton street, from Berry street to the P. F. W. & C. R. R., would respectfully report that we have made a survey of the property along said street, and also in favor of widening the sidewalks 3 feet on each side, but many of them are opposed to making the improvement this year, as they are not prepared to incur the cost entailed by said improvement. Many of said property owners along on said street have the running parallel with said street 150 feet deep, and to come to them will be a great hardship to meet the cost for said improvement without having been advised of the same sometime in advance.

We therefore would respectfully report that said improvement be postponed for a year or two, by that time the government building will also be completed or nearly so. Water and gas pipe connections should also be made, which is necessary before said improvement is made, so that the street may not be disturbed afterwards.

Objected.

Railroad surveys occasionally report laughable incidents, showing the ignorance of people with regard to railroads in localities not yet reached by the steam-car. A party was surveying on a farm in the Far West, when an old man came hurrying out of his rude house, and asked:

"What you-doin' here?"

"Surveying," was the reply of one of the engineers.

"Surveying for what?"

"For a railroad."

"Where's it goin'?"

"Right through your barn, I guess," laughingly said the engineer.

"What?"

"I can take it right through your barn."

"Well, now, Mister, I calculate I've got somethin' to say 'bout that. I want you to understand that I've got somethin' else to do besides runnin' out to open and shut them doors ev'ry time a train wants to run through."

On another clearing, an old lady came hurrying out, in the most excited frame of mind.

"What you men doing on my ground?" she asked.

"Surveying for the new line of railroad, Madam."

"Is it coming here?"

"Yes, Ma'am. The topography of the locality is such that we shall probably be obliged to do this."

"Well, now, it just shan't do nothin' of the sort."

"You will be paid for all damages done."

"That don't make no difference. Your old ingin cars ain't comin' here."

"I fear they will have to."

"Well, now look here. I'll tell you right out 'n' out what I'll do. An' I'll do it as sure as them cars come inside this fence, an' you can tell the railroad so. I'll tie my clothes-line across the track ev'ry single night, an' amash your ingin all to pieces! I will, I vum I will."

A BROOKLYN doublet, against whom a suit for damages in the sum of $50,000, was brought by a woman whose mouth got sore after using a set of teeth he had constructed for her, has settled the case with her by a payment of $300.

AMERICAN HANDWRITING.

Less Legible than the English, but Possessing More Individuality.

Complaint of the general decadence of things are frequently heard, although to the point they could not but admit that from every point of view it is a boon to live in an age like the present. Fancy making a fire with a flint on mornings like these, as people did before the invention of matches. The most inveterate praiser of times past must own that getting up and turning on the register for simplicity and comfort beats it hollow.

However, there being nothing else in particular to complain of, an old writing-master of New York bewails in the public prints the decline and fall of penmanship. He says that in his day, which was early and remote, it is to be presumed, people were proud of their handwriting, and everybody strove to excel in legibility and beauty. It was studied almost as one of the fine arts, and he points to specimens in fac-simile in old books and also to the many original documents available.

It is not fashionable now, according to this critic, to write a good hand, and many of the fair sex even go so far as to describe it as a vulgar accomplishment. There are some, who have ceased to use the pen altogether, and who resort to the telegraph or Remington. In these machines this old-time master sees a device of the diabolical enemy of the human race.

The indictment is brought chiefly against American girls. The fair maidens of England continue to write "the delicate Italian hand" which was once in universal favor. The objection, however to English penmanship is that it is too uniform. By pursuing a system all learn to write alike, and the result is a total lack of individuality.

Those who have correspondence with English friends must have observed the close similarity in the specimens of chirographic skill brought to their notice. The penmanship may be said to have a national character. All the letters are formed upon the same system, and there is an almost total absence of distinct traits.

American handwriting is less legible, but possesses much more character. If it is really possible, as many have claimed, to tell much of personal identity from penmanship the right field in which to pursue the study is in this country. Hardly any two persons are found to write alike, even among members of the same family. In all there is found a variety and independence much more interesting than the monotonous legibility of English penmanship. Baltimore News.

A MAN traveled from San Francisco to Chicago recently on a first-class limited ticket which cost him only $4.50. The scalper had bought it to speculate on, but had not succeeded in selling it, and the last day to travel on it had arrived and the last boat was almost ready to start. Just before the gang-plank was drawn up the man offered $4.50, the offer was accepted, and he rushed aboard.

SHE AMUSED HIM OUT.

A New York girl took a seat on the sunny side of a Fourth Avenue car as it turned into the Bowery. She was a little bunch of loveliness, and her black eyes twinkled with a gleam that told of a merry soul. Though small she carried a great many pounds of sweetness to the square inch, and as she settled back in the seat with the tips of the daintiest little shoes just touching the floor and dove eagerly into a big blue-covered book, everybody looked at her because they could not help it. She smiled so sweetly at the conductor, whom she had kept unconsciously waiting for her fare, that the attractive Bowery pictures for once passed him by without notice. A large jewel on her left hand flashed prismatic rays as the pages of the book were quickly turned.

Presently a tall, well-dressed man, with an immense black mustache, got on the car and sat down by her side. He turned his eyes upon his neighbor with an admiring glance and never took them off. She did not know it until she raised her head quickly to see how far up the car had gone, when he smiled and bowed at her. She was buried in her book in a second and the carmine in her cheek took on a deeper tinge. He kept up the steady gaze. She felt it, but did not look up. Her face became sober, and she held on to the book with a tighter grip. He moved his head forward, backward, and sideways and coughed to attract her attention. She was annoyed but tried not to show it. Though she appeared to be intently reading, the pages were not turned. He grew bolder and she became more determined not to notice him. As the car passed Cooper Institute he lowered his face close to her with a disgusting leer. She saw him not, and he was quiet for a moment. Then he raised his hand to his chin and touched the little woman's shoulder with his elbow. She did not stir, but the blood seemed as if it would burst through her fair skin, and her eye-lids trembled. He repeated the last maneuver and leaning toward her said something in a whisper. The little feat patted the floor for a second, then like a flash her left hand flew upward and the lustre of the bright gem on her finger was buried in the cheek of the man who had insulted her. Before he knew what was the matter the blow was repeated with greater force. The car had reached Fourteenth street, which was just where the "masher" wanted to go, and he slid out of the car as if the air were greased, with the laughter of the passengers ringing in his ears. She seemed startled and smiled prettily in a frightened sort of a way, as if she had done something she ought not to have done. Then she tried to read her book, but she kept watch of the streets and when the car got to Twenty-fourth street she got off, as modest and unassuming as ever.—N. Y. Star.

After an Eruption.

A bold traveler who had the temerity to ascend Vesuvius just after slight eruptions, and while it was still in a state of ferment, thus describes its appearance:

"Not a speck of green, not a bird, not an insect: no life—only fields on fields of lava and scorria and ashes. The silence from time to time was broken, but it was only by the low mutterings and growlings of the mountain that always heralded an upheaval of lava and debris. Again we bent our steps upwards, going zigzag among scorria and lava, passing various little extinct craters, until we came to where the mountain was hot and where white sulphurous smoke was rising all about. Here another halt was called, and the guide went off to explore. He soon returned and bade us follow. We could not go higher at this point

Gen. Leonidas Polk.

Gen. Leonidas Polk, the fighting Bishop of Tennessee, sat on his horse high up the northern slopes of Pine Mountain, in Georgia, on June 14, 1864, when the eye of a Federal gunner was caught by the glitter of rider's equipment. The marksmen poked the black muzzle of a Long Tom gun toward the target, sighted slightly below the blue sky-line, and sent screaming thither a shot that deprived the Confederacy of one of its most famous Generals. B. F. McCollum, the man who thus picked off Gen. Polk, says an exchange, died at La Porte, Ind., a few days ago.

A SLIGHT SURPRISE.

Doly Hubbard Weds a Dakota Belle in Quite a Romantic Way.

A correspondent at Winchester Dakota, territory, sends this interesting item to the Exponent county Record:

"Sunday evening we returned to Winchester, and were tenderly cared for at the Bamstead domicile. After a brief service at the school house, and lunch, Mrs. Bamstead and Mr. and Mrs. Mathews concocted a plot for the purpose of creating a surprise, and in just five minutes by the watch (fast time of course) had a bride and groom—Miss Alice I. Petrie, teacher of Winchester school No. 1, and Mr. J. S. Hubbard—on the floor, duly blushing in anticipation of listening to the words that should unite them 'for better or worse' all through life. It was done like a shot. Yeater had just paused in the midst of a joke to brush a fly from his chin, while Bamstead was taking a deep breath to be ready for the inevitable laugh that was soon to follow, and just as Mathews had initiated his third smile—having 'caught on' a few seconds earlier—the enterprising ladies completed their arrangements and the 'Have him? Have her?—Hitched!' was pronounced, and the children of Beaver Creek had a Mrs. Hubbard for their future teacher, instead of the gay Miss Petrie of the Friday before. It is needless to add that it was a complete surprise to all, and especially to the bride and bridegroom. The congratulations that followed were hearty and earnest, the presents were numerous and costly, and all were happy."

Mr. Hubbard is a Fort Wayne boy, a brother of Sid Hubbard, the Columbia street barber. Doly was formerly catcher in Al. Foote's base ball club and has hosts of friends here.

The Gas Company at Work.

Indianapolis News.

Two weeks ago the gas company commenced boring for natural gas, at the works on South Pennsylvania street. So far they have succeeded in boring about 170 feet. The first of the work was easy, until a vein of blue clay twelve feet in thickness was found, followed by quicksand, which occupied three days in pumping out. Within the last few days lime rock has been encountered, and the superintendent reports it is impossible to say how long they will be in cutting through, as the work is slow. Although the well is a venture, the company is hopeful of finding gas.

Each congressman is entitled to 6,000 paper packages of vegetable seeds, 500 of flower seeds, 300 of tobacco, fifty quarts of grass, thirty-two of cotton, twenty-eight of sugar beet and twenty each of corn and sorghum to distribute among his constituents. With an outfit like this almost any congressman ought to be able to secure a re-nomination. But he must have gumption enough to know where these seeds would do the most good.
